

The Centre for International and Public Law, ANU College of Law, and the History Program, RSCS, College of Arts and Social Sciences invite all students (undergraduate and postgraduate), academics, scholars and members of the public with an interest in law, history, citizenship, equality and human rights to a seminar around Marilyn Lake and Henry Reynolds's Drawing the Colour line: White Men's Countries and the Question of Racial Equality (MUP, 2008)

Thursday 12 June 2008, 2.00-5.30pm
National Europe Centre (1 Liversidge Street, Bldg 67C,
The Australian National University)

RSVP to svp@law.anu.edu.au (by Tuesday 10 June 2008)

RSVPs required for catering and seats.

Program:

- | | |
|----------------|---|
| 2.00 pm | Welcome by Professor Kim Rubenstein, Director of CIPL, ANU College of Law, ANU and Professor Desley Deacon, History Program, RSCS, College of Arts and Social Sciences, ANU |
| 2.10 - 2.40 pm | Professor Marilyn Lake, La Trobe University, Drawing the Global Colour Line |
| 2.40 - 3.10 pm | Professor Mary Crock, University of Sydney, and Professor Kim Rubenstein discuss the intersections of Drawing the Global Colour Line with legal research for this historical period. |
| 3.10 - 3.30 pm | Peter Prince, PhD candidate, ANU College of Law, ANU The dictation test and the colour line in Queensland: bananas, aliens and allegiance |
| 3.30 - 3.50 pm | AFTERNOON TEA |
| 3.50 - 4.20 pm | Professor Ann Curthoys, ARC Professorial Fellow, History, Faculty of Arts, College of Arts and Social Sciences, ANU Drawing the Global Colour Line in its historiographical context |
| 4.20 - 4.50 pm | Professor Henry Reynolds, University of Tasmania, Drawing the Global Colour Line |
| 4.50 - 5.30 pm | General Discussion, including questions addressed to, and answered by, all the speakers |

All welcome. The book Drawing the Colour line: White Men's Countries and the Question of Racial Equality (MUP, 2008) will be available for purchase at the symposium.