

CIPL E-bulletin – 1st, 19 May 2006

Dear CIPL associate,

I have now been in the position of Director of the Centre for Public and International law for three months and it has been a very stimulating period. Over that time CIPL has hosted a range of public events including:

--Work Choices Legislation Fringe Seminars 8 -10 May 2006 (with the Australian Labour Lawyers Association)

--Reviewing Social and Economic Impacts of Regulations: Are Judges up to the Task? Public Lecture 2 May 2006

--International Tribunals Workshop, 5 April 2006

--Detention at Guantanamo Bay: Legal Black-hole? International Law Discussion Group 4 April 2006

--The Rule of Law in a Colonial Setting, CIPL Discussion Group: Tuesday 4 April 2006

--Developments in Customary International Humanitarian Law, Public Lecture 2 March 2006 (with ACT Red Cross)

--Genocide and Justice in the 21st Century, International Law Discussion Group, 15 February 2006

--UN Peacebuilding Commission and The State of Practice in International Peacebuilding, Public Lecture 9 February (with Centre for International Governance and Justice)

If you are interested in reading the papers or hearing the audio from these events, please go to <http://law.anu.edu.au/cipl/Events.asp>

Can I also encourage you to look at the website more generally at <http://law.anu.edu.au/cipl> as the Centre Administrator, Valerie Wayte, has been updating a lot of the information. You will see an extended list of people at ANU who are associated with CIPL, and an updated Research and Consultancies page.

I am also delighted to inform you that two of our annual events now have dates set. On 2 November 2006, Professor Vicki Jackson from Georgetown University, USA will be presenting the 2006 Geoffrey Sawer Lecture, and then the Eleventh Public Law Weekend follows the next day (3-4 November, 2006). We hope that many of you intending to come to the Annual Public Law weekend from outside of Canberra will benefit from the Sawer lecture being held the night before. Further details about those two events will be placed on the website and set out more fully in the next CIPL hard copy newsletter, due out in July 2006.

I would also like to mention that it has been CIPL's general practice to send out notices of most Canberra-based public CIPL events (aside from its major conferences) to the Canberra-based CIPL associates only. If you are not based in Canberra, but would still like to receive notices of forthcoming Canberra CIPL public events, please email the Centre Administrator, Valerie Wayte at cipl@law.anu.edu.au so she can ensure that you receive them.

Best wishes,

Professor Kim Rubenstein
Director, Centre for International and Public Law
ANU College of Law, Australian National University

Phone: +61 2 6125 0455

Fax: +61 2 6125 0150

Kim.Rubenstein@anu.edu.au

CIPL forthcoming events:

- Wednesday 7 June, 1 pm ANU College of Law, Dr Michael Smith, International Law and the Use of Force
- Wednesday 14 June, Cosmopolitan Citizenship: Legal Issues for Europe and Australia (National Europe Centre, ANU) 10am-1pm
- Tuesday 18 July, 5.30 pm ANU College of Law, Professor Neil Boister, Conspiracy at Tokyo: The Tokyo Tribunal and the Concept of Conspiracy in International Criminal Law
- Wednesday 2 August, 5.30 pm ANU College of Law, Professor Tim McCormack, Lessons learnt from the Milosevic Trial
- Saturday 21 October: Seminar to commemorate the 20th Anniversary of the death of Lionel Murphy (at National Museum) in conjunction with NISSL and the Lionel Murphy Foundation
- Thursday 2 November, Shine Dome, 2006 Geoffrey Sawer Lecture, Professor Vicki Jackson, Georgetown University, USA
- Friday 3 - Saturday 4 November, Eleventh Public Law Weekend, Canberra

For more information: <http://law.anu.edu.au/cipl/events.asp>