The two books being launched at this event deal with the important issue of gender and the state. Federalism, Feminism and Multilevel Governance is one of the first books to take notice of the impact of state architecture on women's representation, and policy achievements, and explores how women's politics is affected by and affects federalism, whether in Australia, Canada India, Mexico, Nigeria, Russia or the US. It also examines the opportunities and constraints offered by multilevel governance, the increased sharing of decision-making among multiple governmental and non-governmental actors. Sex Discrimination in Uncertain Times stems from a conference marking the 25th Anniversary of the Sex Discrimination Act 1984. It presents clear-eyed appraisals of the legislation, in addition to considering new forms of legal regulation. The essays are illuminated by recourse to a rich vein of historical and contemporary literature and comparative experience of other jurisdictions, particularly the UK and Canada.
