In the spirit of the College's traditional biennial book launch, the Hon Annabelle Bennett AO will celebrate a collection of books published by ANU College of Law academic staff between the last such event in 2007 and the end of 2010. The publications showcase the College's diverse research interests, which range across fields as varied as environmental law, family law, intellectual property, law and religion, administrative law, international law, human rights, equity and trusts, governance, sex discrimination and global health law.

The event will be chaired by the ANU College of Law Dean Professor Michael Coper.

The Hon Annabelle Bennett has been Pro-Chancellor of The Australian National University since 1998. She is a Justice of the Federal Court of Australia. Justice Bennett is also a member of Chief Executive Women, an advisory committee member of the Australian Law Reform Commission, the Centennial Park & Moore Park Trust, the Medico-Legal Society of New South Wales, and various Australian and International legal associations. Combined with this, Justice Bennett is a council member of the Australian Academy of Forensic Science and a director of the Sydney Childrens Hospital Foundation (formerly the Prince of Wales Children's Hospital Foundation).

The views expressed at this event do not necessarily represent the views of The Australian National University.
