

Mr Andrew Alexandra

Centre for Applied Philosophy & Public Ethics (CAPPE), University of Melbourne

tba

Dr Dean Cocking

School of Humanities & Social Sciences, University of New South Wales at ADFA

Dean has taught and written extensively in theoretical and applied ethics. He is the author of Virtue Ethics and Professional Roles (Cambridge UK, 2001, with Justin Oakley), Evil Online, (Blackwells Oxford UK, forthcoming, 2010, with Jeroen van den Hoven) and was the lead author of the industry report Professionalisation, Ethics and Integrity Systems: The Promotion of Professional Ethical Standards, and the Protection of Clients and Consumers (2007), undertaken for the Professional Standards Council (NSW) as part of an ARC Linkage Grant. He has published several articles, including in such journals as Ethics and The Journal of Philosophy.

Before commencing with UNSW@ADFA, Dean taught many subjects in professional and applied ethics and developed a number of new courses at Charles Sturt University. Before that he taught a range of philosophy subjects at Melbourne, LaTrobe and Monash Universities. His area of research and teaching expertise spans most areas within theoretical, applied and professional ethics. Currently he is working on developing new course materials and research on ethics and leadership.

Dr Stephen Coleman

School of Humanities & Social Sciences, University of New South Wales at ADFA

Stephen Coleman is Senior Lecturer in Ethics and Leadership & Vincent Fairfax Foundation Fellow in the School of Humanities and Social Sciences, with the University of New South Wales at the Australian Defence Force Academy (UNSW@ADFA) where he teaches courses in military ethics at both undergraduate and postgraduate level. He has written one book (The Ethics of Artificial Uteruses: Implications for Reproduction and Abortion published in 2004) and over twenty papers in academic journals and edited collections on a diverse range of topics in applied ethics, including military ethics, police ethics, medical ethics, and the practical applications of human rights. In addition to these published papers he has presented at conferences in Australia, New Zealand, Hong Kong, the United Kingdom and the United States. For the 2009-2010 northern hemisphere academic year, while on study leave from his permanent position in Australia, he served as Resident Fellow in Ethics at the Vice Admiral James B. Stockdale Center for Ethical Leadership at the United States Naval Academy. His latest book, Introduction to Military Ethics: An Issues Based Approach, is nearing publication.

Major General Stephen Day, DSC

Head of Joint Capability and Coordination, Australian Army

Major General Day was born into a military family in Sydney in 1960, attending a number of schools within Australia and overseas. His father and both grandfathers also served with the Australian Army.

After graduation from the Officer Cadet School at Portsea, he was commissioned into the Corps of Royal Australian Engineers in 1982. He has served in a variety of engineer (or sapper) units, including as the Commanding Officer of the 3rd Combat Engineer Regiment. His operational service has included deployments to Namibia, East Timor and as the Director of Strategic Operations with the Multi-National Force in Iraq. For his service in East Timor with the International Forces, he was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross. Major General Day has been an instructor at the Royal Military College, Duntroon; has been a Staff Officer to the Chief of Defence Force; and has attended Defence Colleges in Australia and Malaysia. He has qualifications from New South Wales, Canberra, Deakin and Malaya Universities.

Following an appointment as the Director General Plans at Joint Operational Command, he was appointed as the Commander of 'South Queensland's Own'—the 7th Brigade—in December 2007. Major General Day was promoted and appointed as Head of Joint Capability and Coordination in February 2010.

Dr Helen Durham

Australian Red Cross

Dr Helen Durham is the Strategic Adviser, International Law for Australian Red Cross and a Senior Fellow at Melbourne Law School. Helen has worked for many years with the International Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement and has been Head of Office for the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) in Australia and regional legal adviser (a position involving working with regional governments to implement their obligations in the area of international humanitarian law). Helen has a doctorate in international criminal and humanitarian law and is admitted as a Barrister and Solicitor of the Supreme Court of Victoria and the High Court of Australia. Helen has been involved in international legal negotiations in New York, Rome and Geneva and has also undertaken short operational missions with the ICRC in Burma, Aceh and the Philippines. Helen teaches in the Masters of Law Program at Melbourne Law School and is widely published in the area of the laws of war.

Professor David Lovell

School of Humanities & Social Sciences, University of New South Wales at ADFA

David Lovell is a Professor of Politics and Head of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences. During 2004 he was Acting Rector of UNSW@ADFA, and in 2008 he was Deputy Rector (Special Projects). He is the co-editor of The European Legacy, is on the editorial board of the Australian Journal of Political Science, and is a member of the Australian Committee of the Council for Security Cooperation in the Asia-Pacific. He has written or edited more than a dozen books on topics including Australian politics, communist and postcommunist systems, and the history of ideas.

David has taught military cadets in a tertiary education environment since 1983, first at the Royal Military College, Duntroon, and now at the Australian Defence Force Academy. He has presided over the introduction of tertiary courses in professional ethics in recent years, and cooperated with the Vincent Fairfax Ethics in Leadership Foundation to deploy more teaching resources into this area.

Professor William Maley AM

Asia-Pacific College of Diplomacy, The Australian National University

Professor William Maley is the Foundation Director of the Asia-Pacific College of Diplomacy (since 2003). He taught for many years in the School of Politics, University College, University of New South Wales, Australian Defence Force Academy, and has served as a Visiting Professor at the Russian Diplomatic Academy, a Visiting Fellow at the Centre for the Study of Public Policy at the University of Strathclyde, and a Visiting Research Fellow in the Refugee Studies Programme at Oxford University. He is also a Barrister of the High Court of Australia, a member of the Executive Committee of the Refugee Council of Australia, and a member of the Australian Committee of the Council for Security Cooperation in the Asia Pacific (CSCAP). In 2002, he was appointed a Member of the Order of Australia (AM).

His recent publications include: 'Australia's Strategic Interests in the Middle East: Lessons from Iraq', in Australia and the Arab World (Emirates Center for Strategic Studies & Research, 2009); 'Governance in Australian Discourse', in WT Tow and Chin Kin Wah (eds), ASEAN-India-Australia: Towards Closer Engagement in a New Asia (Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, 2009); The Afghanistan Wars, 2nd ed (Palgrave Macmillan, 2009).

Professor Penelope Mathew

Freilich Foundation, The Australian National University

Penelope Mathew is the Freilich Foundation Professor at The Australian National University. Her main area of expertise is refugee law and she has worked with and for refugees in many capacities. She has published widely in the areas of refugee law, human rights and international law and she is a past editor-in-chief of the Australian Yearbook of International Law. She has taught at the law schools of the University of Melbourne, The Australian National University and the University of Michigan.

Captain Rob McLaughlin

Australian Army

Rob McLaughlin is a Captain in the Royal Australian Navy. He is a legal officer, and is currently the Director of Operations and International Law in Defence Legal Division, and the Director of the Naval Legal Service. His operational service has included operations in Iraq and East Timor, and maritime law enforcement off the coast of Northern Australia. Previous postings have included appointments as Strategic Legal Adviser, Fleet Legal Officer, Staff Officer Legal in the Deployable Joint Force HQ–Maritime, and XO HMAS WOLLONGONG. PhD (Camb) MPhil (Camb) LLM (ANU) MA (Brown) LLB (Hons)(UQ) BA (Hons)(UQ).

Professor Richard O'Meara

Rutgers University

Tba

Professor Igor Primoratz

Centre for Applied Philosophy & Public Ethics (CAPPE), Charles Sturt University, Canberra and The Hebrew University of Jerusalem

Igor Primoratz is Professorial Fellow at CAPPE and Emeritus Professor of Philosophy at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem. His main areas of research are ethics, theoretical and applied, political philosophy, philosophy of law, and philosophy of human sexuality. Topics of current research interest are the ethics of violence, war, and terrorism, and moral issues to do with patriotism and nationalism.

Recent publications include edited collections Terror from the Sky: The Bombing of German Cities in World War II (Berghahn Books, 2010), Civilian Immunity in War (Oxford UP, 2007, 2010), and Military Ethics (with CAJ Coady, Ashgate, 2008), and papers on the bombing of Germany (Deutsche Zeitschrift für Philosophie, 2008), contemporary terrorism (Cardozo Law Review, 2007), patriotism and the value of citizenship (Acta Analytica, 2009), and patriotism and morality (Journal of Moral Philosophy, 2008). He is currently at work on a book titled Terrorism: A Philosophical Investigation (under contract with Polity Press).

Professor Richard D Rosen

Texas Tech University

Richard D Rosen is Vice Dean and Professor of Law at Texas Tech University School of Law, Director of the Texas Tech Center for Military Law & Policy and Colonel (retired), United States Army.

Military assignments include Commandant, Judge Advocate General's School, US Army, Charlottesville, Virginia; Staff Judge Advocate, III Armored Corps and Fort Hood, Fort Hood, Texas; Special Counsel to the Assistant Attorney General for the Civil Division, Department of Justice, Washington, DC; Deputy Legal Counsel to the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, The Pentagon, Washington, DC; and Staff Judge Advocate of the 1st Cavalry Division, Fort Hood, Texas.

Richard's recent publications include Targeting Enemy Forces in a War on Terror: Preserving Civilian Immunity, 42 Vand J Transnat'l L 683 (2009).

Education: Bachelor of Arts, The Ohio State University (1970); Juris Doctor, University of Miami School of Law (1973); Masters of Law, University of Virginia School of Law (1987). Military Education: US Army Judge Advocate Officers Basic Course (1977); US Army Judge Advocate Officers Graduate Course, The Judge Advocate General's School, US Army (1977); US Army Command & General Staff College (1989); US Army War College Fellowship (1997).

Professor Michael N Schmitt

Durham University, UK

Professor Michael N Schmitt is Chair of Public International Law at Durham University. He was previously Dean of the Marshall Center for Security Studies in Germany. He is a Senior Fellow at the TMC Asser Institute in the Hague, served as the 2007–08 Stockton Visiting Professor of International Law at the US Naval War College, and was the 2006 Sir Ninian Stephen Visiting Scholar at Melbourne University.

Professor Schmitt served 20 years in the US Air Force, specialising in operational and international law. He is presently the General Editor of the Yearbook of International Humanitarian Law and serves on the editorial boards of the International Review of the Red Cross, International Peacekeeping, Journal of Military Ethics, Connections, Journal of International Humanitarian Legal Studies, and the International Humanitarian Law Series (Martinus Nijhoff). Professor Schmitt's works on law and military affairs have been published in Australia, Belgium, Chile, Germany, Israel, Italy, Norway, Peru, Sweden, Switzerland, the Netherlands, the United Kingdom, and the United States.

Major General (Retd) Michael G Smith AO

Asia Pacific Civil-Military Centre of Excellence

Michael (Mike) Smith is the founding Executive Director of the Asia Pacific Civil-Military Centre of Excellence, established by the Australian Government in 2008. From 2002–2008 he was CEO of Austcare (now Action Aid Australia), following 34 years service as an Army Officer in the Australian Defence Force. Mike is actively engaged in international fora on issues relating to humanitarian assistance and disaster relief; peacekeeping, peacebuilding and complex peace operations; and the protection of civilians.

Dr David Whetham

King's College London

Dr David Whetham is a Senior Lecturer in the Defence Studies Department of King's College London, based at the Joint Services Command and Staff College at the UK Defence Academy. David initially took a degree in Philosophy at the London School of Economics and went on to take a Masters Degree in War Studies at King's College London. After some time spent traveling around the Great Lakes region of Africa, David returned to King's to take a PhD in War Studies. Before joining King's as a permanent member of staff in 2003, David worked as a BBC researcher and with the OSCE in Kosovo, supporting the 2001 and 2002 elections.

David's main research interests are focused on the ethical dimensions of warfare and the development of the laws of war. In 2009, David was a Visiting Fellow with the Centre for Defence Leadership and Ethics at the Australian Defence College in Canberra. He is married with two children, and in his spare time, David is a Magistrate on the Swindon bench, plays the trombone with the Corsham Band and fences with the medieval longsword and epee.

David's most recent publication – Just Wars and Moral Victories: surprise, deception and the normative framework of European war in the later Middle Ages was published by Brill in 2009. Other publications include: Ethics, Law and Military Operations (ed.) (Palgrave: forthcoming 2010) and 'Ethics and the Enduring Relevance of Just War Theory in the 21st Century', in John Buckley & George Kassimeris (eds), The Ashgate Research Companion to Modern Warfare (Ashgate, 2010).
