

Excellence in Education Awards 2009

The ANU College of Law is pleased to announce the winners of the 2009 Excellence in Education Awards. The awards were initiated to help recognise excellence in education in the College and to contribute to the ongoing development of our education programs. There were over 120 nominations and 15 applications for the awards, covering all education programs within the College, and reflecting a rich diversity of approaches to education. The very high quality of the applications resulted in more than one award winner in some categories and a number of highly commended applicants.

Congratulations to:

Leighton McDonald – Award for Teaching Excellence;
Juliet Behrens, Molly O'Brien and Tony Connolly
– Citations for Outstanding Contribution to Student Learning.

Matthew Zagor, Wayne Morgan, Miriam Gani,
Michael Rawling – Highly Commended.

Leighton McDonald

Juliet Behrens

The College would also like to congratulate all those nominated for the awards and in particular those who participated in the application process. Thank you for your contribution to the continued excellence of the education offered in all programs at the ANU College of Law.

For more information about the awards see
<http://law.anu.edu.au/educationawards/>

Molly O'Brien

Tony Connolly

CRICOS # 00120C