

Australian
National University

In conversation with ...

Justice Daphne Barak Erez and Professor Kim Rubenstein

Thursday 6 August 2015 12–1 pm

---

Justice Daphne Barak Erez Supreme Court of Israel
Professor Kim Rubenstein ANU College of Law

---

Philippa Weeks Staff Library ANU College of Law, Building 5, Fellows Road,
The Australian National University

The Gender Institute, the Centre for International and Public Law and the ANU Law Students Society welcome students from around the campus, and interested academics to come and hear Professor Kim Rubenstein in Conversation with Justice Daphne Barak Erez, a woman on Israel's Supreme Court.

Professor Rubenstein is running an ARC linkage grant oral history project on Trailblazing Women Lawyers in Australia, through the National Library of Australia and she will draw from that experience to talk with Justice Barak Erez about influences on her life, and her professional experiences as a woman and as judge.

Justice Daphne Barak-Erez was appointed to the Supreme Court of Israel in 2012. Before that, she was a professor of law at Tel Aviv University for many years, where she the Stewart and Judy Colton Chair and served as the Dean of the Law School. She is a member of the American Law Institute and of the International Academy of Comparative Law. During her career she has been a visiting professor and researcher at various universities, including Stanford, Columbia, Duke and Toronto. She has been awarded several prizes, including the Rector's Prize for Excellence in Teaching (three times), the Zeltner Prize, the Heshin Prize, the Woman of the City Award (by the City of Tel-Aviv) and the Women in Law Award (by the Israeli Bar).

Professor Kim Rubenstein is a leading legal academic and practitioner, is currently Director of the Centre for International and Public Law at the Australian National University, a position she has held since 2006. In addition she was the inaugural Convenor (2011–12) of the ANU Gender Institute. She is Australia's citizenship law expert and was one of the early instigators of feminist scholarly approaches to Australian constitutional law

The views expressed in this event are those of the presenter and do not necessarily represent the views of The Australian National University.

Presented by
Gender Institute
Centre for International
& Public Law
ANU College of Law

RSVP online by Wednesday 5 August 2015 at law.anu.edu.au/events/anu-college-law/conversation-justice-daphne-barak-erez-and-professor-kim-rubenstein

Enquiries T 6125 0454

This event is free and open to the public

IN CONVERSATION