

Australian
National University

TECHNOLOGY, PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION AND PUBLIC LAW

Venue: Australian Centre on China in the World
Building 188, Fellows Lane, The Australian National University, Canberra

Centre for International
& Public Law
ANU College of Law

Major sponsor

CPD points are available for this conference

The Centre for International and Public Law thanks its major sponsor, the Australian Government Solicitor.

AGS is a group within the Australian Government Attorney-General's Department providing legal services to government, a role that we have fulfilled since Federation and our sole reason for existing.

We assist the Attorney-General in the role of First Law Officer and we advise the Executive Government and all Commonwealth agencies. Our long experience in working with government agencies means we understand the Government's legislative and regulatory frameworks, policy objectives and key programs. We work with client agencies to deliver outcomes and minimise legal risk by providing high-quality advice and representation and timely, reliable service. We have the expertise, the corporate memory and the resources to do this in a way no other legal practice can. As a legal practice owned by the Commonwealth, AGS is dedicated to the interests of our clients individually and the interests of government as a whole. We work in collaboration with your in-house legal teams, providing value-for-money legal services supporting a 'whole-of-government' perspective.

AGS is one of Australia's largest national legal services providers, with offices in every capital city and approximately 320 lawyers who cover some 40 different areas of law related to government.

PROGRAM

Friday 1 November 2019

| Time | Event |
|---------------|---|
| 9.15–9.30 am | Welcome Associate Professor Leighton McDonald , ANU College of Law Dr Will Bateman , ANU College of Law |
| 9.30–11 am | Panel 1: Technology and the rule of law Chair: Professor James Stellios , ANU College of Law The Honourable Justice Nye Perram , Federal Court of Australia Judicial review of machine made decisions Professor Lyria Bennett-Moses , UNSW The rule of law 'by design': new information technologies as a means to promote the rule of law |
| 11–11.30 am | Morning tea |
| 11.30 am–1 pm | Panel 2: Automating Discretionary Decision-Making: technical, legal and policy dimensions Chair: Dr Tiberio Caetano , Chief Scientist, Gradient Institute Dr Lachlan Calman , Gradient Institute Automating discretion: technical dimensions Dr Will Bateman , ANU College of Law Automating discretion: legal dimensions Associate Professor Julia Powles , University of Western Australia Automating discretion: policy dimensions |
| 1–2 pm | Lunch |
| 2–3.30 pm | Panel 3: Technology at scale in public life: social security and surveillance Chair: Ms Jaala Hinchcliffe , Deputy Commonwealth Ombudsman Professor Terry Carney AO , University of Sydney Automating Australian social security: boon, bane or just bungled? Dr Nora Ni Loideain , University of London Mass surveillance in Europe: is the European Court of Human Rights (still) the ultimate guardian of privacy? |
| 3.30–4 pm | Afternoon tea |
| 4–5 pm | Panel 4: Tech innovations in the public sector: promises and challenges Chair: Dr Pip Ryan , ANU College of Law Mr Daniel Stewart , ANU College of Law Big data, social media and public governance Ms Kate Miller , Monash University Technology assisted decision-making in the public sector |
| | Closing Remarks Ms Rebecca Daumont , A/g National Manager, Legal Practice Technology & Innovation, Australian Government Solicitor |
| 6.30 pm | Dinner |

CONTACT US

Centre for International & Public Law

ANU College of Law
The Australian National University
5 Fellows Road
Canberra ACT 2600
T +61 2 6125 4178
E cipl@anu.edu.au
W law.anu.edu.au/cipl

CRICOS Provider #00120C